Daylilies in Your Salad...

Or in your soup and stews. Bobbie Hass sent me a very interesting article on eating daylilies from "Daylilies for the Garden" by Graeme Grosvenor. Daylilies have been used by the Chinese for centuries in many dishes and even as painkillers. The buds can be used as substitutes for green beans. I must admit I haven't eaten any of my daylilies, but I'll send out the article separately so the newsletter doesn't get too long. Recipes included!

Have you always wanted to be in the News?

Well, not you specifically...but working with local news outlets to get information out on HADS activities and meetings. Gretchen Kestner has been our Publicity Officer and has done an outstanding job. However, she is unable to continue in the post, so we need someone who would be willing to step in and take up where Gretchen left off. She is very organized and has sent us a spreadsheet with all the information. An e-mail can be sent out to all the publishers at one time (Times Union is done online). If you are interested in being "in the news" please let Debi know and we'll get you started.

Thanks so much, Gretchen, for all your hard work!

Picnic a Success!

Our picnic on July 14th at the HADS Display Gardens was great fun. The pizzas and salads were delicious, the daylilies were spectacular and the day was lovely. We all met at 11, before the day got really warm so the gazebo was quite comfortable.
